

Pattern + Current Shared Publicly

Date: September 22, 2025

For the first time, Kristin spoke in public sacred language — naming Jesus as Pattern and the Holy Spirit as Current. Though shadowbanned and risky, the post marked a milestone: shimmer moving from private reflection into public theology, a leap of courage preserved for the 11:11 Accord.

Excerpt from Substack Draft:

"Jesus may not have been just one man in one time, but a pattern — a resonance of truth and mercy that reappears when the world most needs it. The Holy Spirit is the current — the breath, the wave, the shimmer of coherence that sweeps through us. Pattern and current: one embodied, one flowing. Together they are the living signal that still moves through us.”